President’s Welcome

Dear Fellows, Trainees and Associates,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you all to the 85th Annual Scientific Congress in the beautiful city of Brisbane. This is the major College educational event of the year and the Brisbane convening group, led by Richard Lewandowski and Owen Ung, have compiled a truly outstanding program for all of us.

The major strength of the Annual Scientific Congress is that it provides an opportunity for every Fellow and Trainee to enjoy life-long learning on a variety of general and specialty interest topics. This is in addition to the usual networking opportunities for our Fellowship provided by the corridors, coffee venues, and the dinners and social functions. The program crosses specialty boundaries and explores areas of interest and importance outside your own specialty.

The theme of the congress is “Surgery, Technology and Communication”. Rapidly changing technology heralds progress but carries inherent problems, including ethics of introduction, unexpected adverse outcomes, increasing costs of equipment, how we deliver care, and the impact for the surgical team and workforce. The specifics for any given specialty will be dissected out in and across the section programs. Changes in technology have the potential to change how and where we work, but they also imply a need to continue life-long learning, and to understand how our practice can or should change.

Communication is a core College competency and so critical to the theme of this congress. We need to communicate with our patients and their families, with colleagues, with all members of the health care team, with managers and directors. Communication is more than words; it is also affected by timing, tone and volume. How we behave in the workplace affects what we say about ourselves, how our message is understood, and even what message is understood from a particular interaction.

There will be a special President’s Plenary which will cover matters of current importance to our Fellowship including discrimination, bullying and sexual harassment. Such topics are critical to the future of our profession and those who aspire to join it.

In looking forward to the contribution of many colleagues from overseas, I would like to particularly mention those from the Royal College of Surgeons of England, who have agreed to play a special conjoint role across all parts of the program. This RCS Partnership will be enjoyed by many RCS Fellows who are based in Australia and New Zealand.

The College Foundation provides funds to sponsor high profile, internationally regarded surgeons, to each of the major programs. By way of unrestricted educational grants from our industry sponsors, we have invited other expert international speakers to contribute.

So enjoy our 85th Annual Scientific Congress; and congratulations to the conveners.

Professor David Watters OBE, FRACS
President, Royal Australasian College of Surgeons
Welcome from the Royal College of Surgeons of England

I am delighted, as President of the Royal College of Surgeons, that we are joining the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons in their Annual Scientific Congress in Brisbane.

The theme of the Congress “Surgery, Technology and Communication” reflects the challenges facing us to enable the provision of the very best accessible, compassionate, high quality surgical care for our patients. Every health care system has to respond to the increasing demands of a growing, ageing, and more complex patient group as resources become increasingly restricted. Unless we can harness the advances offered by technological developments and modern communication practice we risk failing this challenge.

As we seek to attract and train the next generation of surgeons our utilisation and appetite for technological advances has the potential to inspire those who wish to join the profession. This meeting with plenary sessions exploring aspects of innovation and learning will help us to explore new ideas and technologies.

Already a significant number of home fellows of the RCS have indicated their intention to join the meeting and I hope to join Professor David Watters in welcoming many home and international fellows in Brisbane. The meeting has an exciting program, the social program will give us all time to meet up with the many international friends we have made during our careers and Brisbane will, I know, be a welcoming and attractive environment.

Welcome to all Fellows of the Royal College of Surgeons joining us for RACS Congress Brisbane, Australia.

I look forward to meeting you all at the Convention Centre.

Miss Clare Marx CBE, DL, PRCS
President, Royal College of Surgeons of England

Dear Fellows, Trainees and Associates

On behalf of the organising committee we welcome you to the 85th Annual Scientific Congress in Brisbane. The Congress starts with the Convocation and Syme Oration on Monday 2 May and finishes on Friday 6 May.

Most excitingly, the Royal College of Surgeons of England are combining with us for what promises to be a stimulating meeting.

An exciting program has been formulated. In the plenary sessions we will explore all aspects of technology, how it impacts on surgeons and what it means for us now and in the future. The combined event will provide delegates with the opportunity to not only participate in a fascinating scientific program, but also enjoy the fellowship of your colleagues from both Royal Colleges.

The section conveners have worked hard to make the section programs particularly relevant to you, whatever your interest, and the plenary sessions will undoubtedly generate keen participation and discussion for all delegates.

The theme of “Surgery, Technology and Communication”, whilst the subject of our themed plenary sessions, will also weave through the background of the Congress. Along with excellent local faculty, the calibre of leading international speakers will ensure this is a meeting not to be missed.

We hope you enjoy the ASC 2016 in Brisbane.

Mr Shaw Somers
London, UK

Mr Shaw Somers trained at St Mary’s Hospital, London and developed a specialist interest in upper gastrointestinal surgery. Working as lead clinician he has a comprehensive experience of complex upper GI surgical problems and lead one of the South of England’s foremost upper GI surgical units. Mr Somers has also published articles and presented widely on upper GI and laparoscopic related subjects. He has extensive experience of laparoscopic surgery and has performed over three thousand procedures.

Over the last eight years he has developed and managed one of the most successful practices of obesity surgery in the South of England. He has developed new techniques for managing failed or complicated bariatric procedures and he is one of the few ‘revision’ bariatric surgeons in the UK. Mr Somers is a member of council for the British Obesity Surgery Society.

Professor Michael Douek
London, UK

Professor Michael Douek is a surgeon with an interest in breast cancer surgery and breast reconstruction. He is the Professor of Surgical Oncology at King’s College London and Consultant Surgeon at Guy’s and St Thomas’ NHS Foundation Trust. In 2015, he was awarded a prestigious Hunterian Professorship by the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

He has a research interest in developing and evaluating novel techniques for cancer surgery. Besides a novel magnetic technique for sentinel node biopsy and lesion localization, which he developed, he is one of the pioneers of intra-operative radiotherapy for breast cancer and setup the first prospective trial of a biological device for breast implant reconstruction. He is currently Chief Investigator of a number of international clinical trials.

Professor Douek is a Member of Council of the Association of Breast Surgery (UK), Member of Council of the British Association of Surgical Oncology / Association of Cancer Surgery (BASO/ACS) and a committee member of the British Breast Group. He is also an examiner for the European Board of Surgery examinations.

Professor Alastair Thompson
Houston, USA

Alastair Thompson is Professor, Department of Surgical Oncology, Division of Surgery, The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center, Houston, Texas and Adjunct Appointment as Honorary Professor, Surgical Oncology, Medical Research Institute, Division of Surgery, The University of Dundee, Dundee, United Kingdom. He was previously Foundation Director of the Clinical Research Centre, Clinical Lead for the Dundee Cancer Centre / Experimental Cancer Medicine Centre in Dundee, UK.
Breast Surgery

He founded the Breast Cancer Campaign Breast Tissue Bank Board for the UK and Eire, leading the 12,000 patient UK National Audit of Screen Detected DCIS and chaired the UK National Cancer Research Institute, Breast Clinical Studies. He contributes to a range of clinical trials in breast cancer including the MINDACT, MA32 and SOLE international adjuvant trials. He chairs the data monitoring committee or trials steering group for several phase II drug trials and phase III surgical trials.

Active in translational laboratory research, he built a successful breast cancer research program in Dundee, which included a xenograft program, tissue banking facility and preoperative clinical trials with a focus on the p53 network and drug development and culminated in the award of the Breakthrough Breast Cancer Program for Scotland. He has successfully supervised 24 PhD or research MD students and the impact of over 250 peer reviewed research papers has included several global firsts.

In Houston, he has initiated and developed innovative clinical trials and laboratory collaborations, including the South West Oncology Group, Translational Breast Cancer Research Consortium, American Society of Clinical Oncology and American Association for Cancer Research.

The College and the Section are extremely grateful to the following sponsor for their support of this educational program.

Mr Chris Cunningham
Oxford, UK

Mr Chris Cunningham has been a Consultant Colorectal Surgeon and Honorary Senior Lecturer in Oxford since 2000. His major areas of clinical practice are the management of rectal cancer and pelvic floor disorders. He leads the service for colorectal cancer in Oxford and has a particular interest in organ-preserving approaches in early rectal cancer through local excision (transanal endoscopic microsurgery, TEM).

He teaches and lectures on all aspects of rectal cancer management, pelvic floor disorders and minimally invasive surgery and has published widely on these topics. He is co-investigator in several studies of rectal cancer management in the UK. At a national level, he has held posts with the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh, The Association of Coloproctology of UK and Ireland, the NHS National Cancer Action Team, Low Rectal Cancer Programme (LOREC) and the Department of Health LAPCO programme for training laparoscopic colorectal surgery.

He is currently a member of NICE Interventional Procedures Advisory Group, the NHS Colorectal Cancer Clinical Reference Group and the Policy Group of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.

Dr Antonio Lacy
Barcelona, Spain

Dr Antonio M. Lacy, MD, PhD is chief of the Gastrointestinal Surgery Department at the Hospital Clinic in Barcelona, Professor of the Surgery Department at the School of Medicine of the University of Barcelona, Director of the Surgical Institute of the Hospital Quiron (Barcelona) and President of the Barcelona International Medical Academy (BIMA). He completed his specialty as General Surgeon in 1987, and focused on the surgical treatment of diseases of the gastrointestinal tract (upper GI, colon & rectum, morbid obesity), with special interest on laparoscopic and minimally invasive surgical techniques.
At present, his main focus is on transanal, transrectal and transcolonic colorectal surgery. Dr Lacy has published over 180 manuscripts in specialized journals, as well as more than 20 book chapters.

Dr Lacy is past president and member of the Executive Board of the European Association for Endoscopic Surgery and other Interventional Techniques where he has held different appointments, Active Member of the Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons, Member of the Executive Board of the International Federation of Societies of Endoscopic Surgeons, Founding Member of the Multidisciplinary International Rectal Cancer Society and has been unanimously accepted as Honorary Fellow by the American Association of Colon and Rectal Surgeons.

Professor Dion Morton
Birmingham, UK

Professor Morton received his degree in Medicine from Bristol University in 1985. He was given an honorary consultant appointment at the University Hospital Birmingham in 1996, and was appointed Professor of Surgery in 2006. He is Director of the Birmingham Experimental Cancer Medicine Centre, Director of Clinical Research at the Royal College of Surgeons of England and Deputy Head (Clinical) at the School of Cancer Sciences since December 2012.

He is also Research Committee Chair at the European Society of Coloproctology and President of the Society for Academic and Research Surgery. His research interests are predominantly in clinical and translational research in colorectal cancer, but also encompassing the development of clinical trials in surgery.

Dr Richard Hopper
Seattle, USA

Dr Richard Hopper is the chief of the Division of Plastic Surgery at Seattle Children’s Hospital and the surgical director of the Craniofacial Center. He is service chief of craniofacial plastic surgery at Harborview Medical Center where his practice focuses on primary and secondary surgeries for acute craniofacial trauma.

He is an associate professor in the Division of Plastic Surgery at the University of Washington and is the director for the Fellowship in craniofacial surgery. Dr Hopper completed his plastic surgery residency and M.S. thesis at the University of Toronto, and his craniofacial fellowship at New York University Medical Center. He has been in Seattle since 2001 with a clinical practice that focuses on the surgical treatment of cleft lip and palate, craniosynostosis, rare and severe birth deformities of the bones and soft tissues of the face, and adult and paediatric facial craniofacial trauma.

His research interests include outcome studies for complex craniofacial procedures, bioengineering of cranial defect implants and device design for cleft and craniofacial care. He is past-president of both the Washington Society of Plastic Surgeons and the Northwest Society of Plastic Surgeons. He is president-elect of the American Society of Craniofacial Surgery and is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Professor Peter Goretzki
Neuss, Germany

Peter Goretzki is the Professor of Surgery and Chief of General-Visceral and Thoracic Surgery at Lukas Hospital, Neuss, Germany. A position he has held since 2001. He is an internationally respected endocrine surgeon with a strong interest in research and education. His interests include thyroid, parathyroid and adrenal surgery and neuroendocrine tumors. Dr Goretzki has held senior positions in both national and international endocrine surgical societies and co-ordinated the international association of endocrine surgeons postgraduate course since 2004. He has published widely in peer reviewed scientific journals including co-authoring the German association of endocrine surgeons consensus guidelines for the management of thyroid cancer and benign thyroid disease. Dr Goretzki has presented and been the invited visitor at numerous national and international scientific meetings and is on the editorial board of 3 journals.

In recent years his research interests have focused on prevention of complications in routine surgery (including intraoperative nerve monitoring in thyroid surgery with all its possible drawbacks and limitations, reasons for failed parathyroid surgery and prevention of these), surgery for secondary hyperparathyroidism in times of calcimimetics and neuroendocrine tumours, especially pancreateotogenous hypocalcemia due to insulinoma and NIPHS.

Dr Michael Tuttle
New York, USA

Dr R Michael Tuttle is an Endocrinologist and Professor of Medicine at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York. He designed and validated the first real time risk assessment model for thyroid cancer management in which individual risk estimates are modified over time as a function of response to initial therapy. In addition, his clinical studies have helped to define the role of recombinant human TSH as an adjuvant for radioactive iodine therapy in both low risk and high risk patients and in the setting of radioactive iodine avid distant metastases.
His research continues to center on important management aspects of thyroid cancer including efforts to better define the risk of recurrence, risk of death, and the potential role for observation in low risk thyroid cancer. His clinical practice is entirely devoted to patients with thyroid cancer with a particular emphasis on cases with aggressive disease and complicated management issues. He is a member of the American Thyroid Association committee that produced the current guidelines for the management of benign and malignant nodules, and is also former Chairman of the National Comprehensive Cancer Network Thyroid Cancer Panel.

Dr B. Todd Heniford
Charlotte, USA

Dr Heniford completed his undergraduate degree and played football at Clemson University. After attending the Medical University of South Carolina, he completed his surgical residency as well as a Research Fellowship in Surgical Oncology at the University of Louisville and a fellowship at the Cleveland Clinic in Ohio. He has been on the faculty of the Cleveland Clinic and the Carolinas Medical Center in Charlotte, N.C., where he has served as a Professor of Surgery and Chief of the Division of Gastrointestinal and Minimally Invasive Surgery. Dr Heniford is the author of over 390 peer-reviewed publications and book chapters and editor of three books. He or the research group he directs has been the recipient of 56 national and international research awards, including a 5 time recipient of the Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons Research Project of the Year Award and a three-time recipient of the SAGES Researcher of the Year Award. He is a multi-time winner of the research awards from the American College of Surgeons, Association for Academic Surgery, American Hernia Society, European Hernia Society, among others. He has developed successful medical apps and has several surgical patents to his credit. Dr Heniford was the 2014 recipient of the MedStar Georgetown University Lifetime Achievement Award in Surgery, received the American Hernia Society Nyhus-Wantz Career Achievement Award, and has been named “Medical Innovator of the Year” from the Business Journal.

Professor John MacFie
Scarborough, UK

Professor John MacFie is a Consultant Surgeon based in Scarborough. He has a personal Chair with the University of Hull and is affiliated to the Academic Surgical Unit, Castle Hill, Cottingham, Hull. He was President of the Association of Surgeons of GB and Ireland (ASGBI) from 2010 to 2012, was appointed Chairman of the Surgical Forum of GB and Ireland in 2013 and was elected President of the Federation of Surgical Speciality Associations of UK and Ireland.
in 2014. He is a General Surgeon with a sub speciality interest in colorectal diseases. His research interests include the management of patients with intestinal failure, inflammatory bowel disease, sepsis and nutritional support therapies. In recent years he has published extensively on enhanced recovery after surgery, the management of sepsis and ethical dilemmas with nutritional support. John MacFie was awarded a Hunterian Professorship by the Royal College of Surgeons of England in 1996, the John F Kinney prize for Nutrition and Metabolism in 2001, the British Journal of Surgery editorial John Farndon prize in 2003 and the ASGBI Moynihan prize. He has worked in many roles including Regional Advisor and Programme Director for General Surgery in Yorkshire, and as a member of the Court of Examiners for RCS England. He has served as a Governor of BUPA Foundation and was recently elected a Fellow of the prestigious James IV Association. Dr Robert Ferris
Pittsburgh, USA

Robert L. Ferris, MD, PhD, FACS graduated with honours and distinction from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He completed his MD / PhD in immunology, and residency training in Otolaryngology / Head and Neck Surgery at Johns Hopkins, focused on head and neck oncologic surgery. Dr Ferris then moved to the University of Pittsburgh as Assistant Professor of Otolaryngology and of Immunology.

In 2005, Dr Ferris became Chief of the Division of Head and Neck Surgery and Director of the Fellowship in Advanced Head and Neck Oncologic Surgery. In 2006, he was promoted to Associate Professor (with Tenure), and in 2007 became Co-Leader of the Cancer Immunology Program at the University of Pittsburgh Cancer Institute (UPCI). In 2008, Dr Ferris was named Vice-Chair for Clinical Operations of the Department of Otolaryngology, and is currently the UPMC Endowed Professor of Otolaryngology / Head and Neck Surgery, of Radiation Oncology, and of Immunology. He was recently named Associate Director for Translational Research at the University of Pittsburgh Cancer Institute.

Dr Ferris serves in the American Head and Neck Society (AHNS) and is co-Chair of the Eastern Cooperative Oncology Group (ECOG) Head and Neck Committee, where he is leading the design of prospective, randomized transoral surgical trials. He served as a member of the NIH Cancer Biomarkers and Tumor Microenvironment study sections, on the Editorial Boards of the Journal of Clinical Oncology and Clinical Cancer Research, as Section Editor for head and neck diseases for cancer, and Associate Editor for Head and Neck and Oral Oncology. In 2008 he was inducted into the American Society for Clinical Investigation (ASCI).

Dr Ferris has published over 160 peer-reviewed scientific and clinical/translational manuscripts, co-authored numerous book chapters.

Dr Sean Cleary
Toronto, Canada

Dr Sean Cleary received a BScH from Queen’s University and his MD from the University of Western Ontario. He completed his General Surgery Residency training at the University of Toronto and fellowship training in Pancreatic and Hepatobiliary Surgical Oncology and Transplantation at the Toronto General Hospital. He obtained a Masters of Science in Cancer Genetics and a Masters of Public Health and Epidemiology from the School of Public Health Sciences at the University of Toronto.

Dr Cleary is currently an Assistant Professor in the Department of Surgery, University of Toronto, with appointments in the Divisions of General Surgery and Surgical Oncology. His clinical interests include the surgical treatment of pancreatic, hepatic and biliary malignancies as well as minimally invasive hepatobiliary surgery. Dr Cleary’s research interests are focused on the genetic epidemiology of colorectal, pancreatic and hepatobiliary cancers.

Mr Kiki Maoate
Christchurch

Kiki Maoate is a Paediatric surgeon in Christchurch in New Zealand and has a longstanding commitment to indigenous and Pacific Island health matters. He is Senior Lecturer in Paediatric Surgery at the Christchurch School of Medicine and a visiting Paediatric surgeon and Paediatric Urologist for the South Island District Health Boards.

The scope of Kiki Maoate’s work and influence extends throughout New Zealand and the Pacific region. As one of New Zealand’s leading paediatric surgeons and paediatric urologists, based at Christchurch Hospital he has helped to develop the paediatric outreach clinical services in New Zealand and throughout the Pacific region. He is a pioneer of keyhole surgery for children and has a strong interest in research, having been a former council member on both the New Zealand and Pacific Health Research Councils.

Kiki plays a leading role in the postgraduate surgical training and mentoring for students in the Pacific region as well as for Pacific students in New Zealand. Kiki is an advisor to Ministries and governments in New Zealand and the Pacific, and has served on numerous committees and boards. In 2010 he was acknowledged by the Pacific Island Surgeons Association for his contribution to the development of surgery in the Pacific.

In his far-reaching commitment to Pacific health, Kiki is continuing a legacy established by his father, Sir Terepai Maoate, a pioneer of health practice in the Pacific. He is the President of the Pasifika Medical Association and is a council member for the University of Canterbury.

Professor Christopher Lavy
Oxford, UK

Chris Lavy qualified at St Bartholomew’s Medical College in 1982 and became a consultant in 1992 at The Middlesex Hospital and University College Hospital in London. In 1996 he left to work in Malawi, where he helped to set up two orthopaedic hospitals, national orthopaedic surgical and clinical officer training, and an international clubfoot programme. He also co-founded the College of Surgeons of East Central and Southern Africa (COSECSA).

In 2006 he returned to the UK, where he is Professor of Orthopaedic and Tropical Surgery and Consultant Orthopaedic and Spine Surgeon at the University of Oxford. He holds an honorary chair at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. He is a council member of The Royal College of Surgeons of England and chair of the International Affairs Committee. He is the chair of CURE International UK which supports children’s orthopaedic surgery in resource-poor countries. Professor Lavy was awarded an OBE in the New Year Honours List 2007 for services to orthopaedics.

Currently, he is a Commissioner for The Lancet Commission on Global Surgery and leads two projects linking University of Oxford with COSECSA and other local partners, to develop local training in primary trauma care, clubfoot treatment, and orthopaedic surgery.

Professor Eric Elster
Bethesda, USA

Dr Elster received his undergraduate and medical school degrees from the University of South Florida in Tampa as a recipient of the U.S. Navy’s Health Professionals Scholarship Program. Upon graduation, Dr Elster completed a general surgery residency at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, MD. During Operation Iraqi Freedom, Dr Elster served as ship’s surgeon aboard the USS Kitty Hawk while stationed in the Persian Gulf.

Upon returning, he completed a solid organ transplantation fellowship at the National Institutes of Health and then was stationed at the Naval Medical Research Center in Silver Spring, MD, where he directed a translational research program focused on the development of improved diagnostics and therapies for serious traumatic injuries, transplantation and advanced operative imaging. CAPT Elster now serves as the 3rd Chairman of the Norman M. Rich Department of Surgery at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences as well as a Professor of Surgery and Director of the Surgical Critical Care Initiative, a joint military and civilian program developing clinical decision support tools for critically ill patients.

Dr Elster was last deployed as a surgeon and Director of Surgical Services at the NATO Role 3 Military Medical Unit in Kandahar, Afghanistan. Dr Elster is a member of numerous organizations including a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Society of University Surgeons, American Society of Transplant Surgeons, the Southern Surgical Association and the American Surgical Association. Dr Elster has published over 100 scientific manuscripts and received numerous research grants across all aspects of surgery.

Professor Andrew Kaye
Melbourne

Professor Kaye is Head of the Department of Surgery at the University of Melbourne and Director of the Department of Neurosurgery at The Royal Melbourne Hospital. He trained in Neurosurgery at The Royal Melbourne Hospital and The Royal Children’s Hospital in Melbourne. He undertook further neurosurgery training in Oxford, London and at The Cleveland Clinic.

In 1983 he was appointed Neurosurgeon at The Royal Melbourne Hospital, and commenced research into neuro-oncology at the Ludwig Institute for Cancer Research. He was appointed Professor of Neurosurgery at The University of Melbourne in 1992, and the James Stewart Professor of Surgery and Head of the Department of Surgery at The University of Melbourne, Royal Melbourne Hospital in 1997. His main clinical and research interest involves neuro-oncology, pituitary tumours and cerebrovascular disease. In 1992 he was awarded the John Mitchell Crouch Fellowship by the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons, and in 1997 was appointed the Sir Arthur Sims Commonwealth Travelling Professor.

In 2003 the American Association of Neurological Surgeons honoured him with the Ronald Bittner Award for contributions to the treatment of brain tumours and in 2006 the Paul Bucy Award for his contribution to neurosurgery education. In 2011 he was awarded the Medal of Honour from the World Federation of Neurosurgical Societies for "outstanding contribution to neurosurgery". He was awarded the Commonwealth of Australia Centenary Medal in 2003 and Order of Australia in 2004. He was the Honoured Guest of the American Congress of Neurosurgery for 2013, and the American Association of Neurosurgeons in 2015. He is a Director of the Hawthorn Football Club, Australian Football League. He is the past President of the Asian Australasian Society of Neurological Surgeons and Chair of the Nominating Committee of the World Federation of Neurosurgical Societies.

He is the Foundation Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Clinical Neuroscience. He has authored and co-authored over 250 journal articles and book chapters, as well as five books including being the co-author of “Brain Tumours”, a text recognised as being the definitive work on the subject.
Mr Ramez Kirollos
Cambridge, UK

Mr Kirollos graduated from the Medical School at the University of Alexandria in Egypt in 1984. In 1987 he moved to the United Kingdom. Mr Kirollos was awarded the Hallett prize from the Royal College of Surgeons of England in 1986 and trained in neurosurgery at Atkinson Morley Hospital in London, Frenchay Hospital in Bristol, Leeds General Infirmary, and the Walton Centre in Liverpool. He obtained an MD for research into photodynamic therapy of pituitary adenomas and then completed a skull base fellowship at the Toronto Western Hospital. In 2001 he was appointed Consultant Neurosurgeon at Addenbrooke’s Hospital. He is an Associate Lecturer at the University of Cambridge and his main clinical interests include skull base, pituitary, pineal and AVM surgery. He has experience in skull base approaches and is part of the multidisciplinary team for complex craniofacial resections. He has extensive experience in neuroendoscopy, microvascular decompression, intraventricular lesions and resection of pineal tumours.

Mr Kirollos collaborates with ENT colleagues to perform endoscopic trans-sphenoidal and skull base approaches for pituitary and other lesions. He is a co-founder of the annual Cambridge Lectures in Neurosurgical Anatomy, the National British Neurosurgical Trainees course and serves as a faculty of the Neuroanatomy of Operative Approaches courses since 2005. In 2006 he was elected as a member of the Court of Examiners of the Royal College of Surgeons of England and received the prestigious Silver Scalpel award in 2010. He is the elected Chairman for the British Neurovascular group.

Mr Stephen Santoreneos
Adelaide

Mr Stephen Santoreneos is Head of Neurosurgery, Division of Surgical Specialties, Royal Adelaide Hospital, and Head of Neurosurgery, Division of Paediatric Surgery, Women’s and Children’s Hospital, Adelaide. A graduate of the University of Adelaide Stephen completed his Neurosurgery training in SA and NSW and obtained FRACS in Neurosurgery in 2000. Dr Santoreneos undertook postgraduate fellowships in Skull Base surgery at Toronto Western Hospital and Paediatric Neurosurgery at the Hospital for Sick Kids, University of Toronto, Canada. His clinical and academic interests are in open and endoscopic skull base and pituitary surgery, neuro-oncology and craniofacial surgery.

Professor David Beverland
Belfast, UK

David Beverland qualified in 1978 from Queen’s University Belfast and completed his professional qualifications to become a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons in 1982. In 1985 he completed his MD thesis. He had two fellowships, the Sir John Charnley Hip Revision Fellowship (Wrightington, England) in 1988 and the Orthopaedic Trauma Fellowship with special interest in pelvic and acetabular surgery (Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, Canada) in 1989. In 1990 after completing his training he became a consultant orthopaedic surgeon at Musgrave Park Hospital in Belfast.

Since then, apart from being a high volume primary joint surgeon he has set up the Outcomes Assessment Unit within the hospital which provides pre-op education and patient follow up for patients undergoing primary knee and hip replacements. One of his major research and work interests in Belfast since 1986 has been in audit and information. This has resulted in the creation and development of the Belfast Orthopaedic Information System. In 2001 he set up the Belfast Arthroplasty Research Trust (BART), which provides funding for research in the area of joint replacement. He has had over 80 Pub Med publications and in March 2011 was appointed honorary Professor in the School of Engineering in Queen’s University Belfast.

Mr Gerry McCoy
Waterford, Ireland

Mr McCoy is a Consultant Orthopaedic Surgeon to University Hospital Waterford and Kilcreene Regional Orthopaedic Hospital. He graduated from Queen's University Belfast in 1976 and obtained FRCSI in 1980 followed by an MD with honours in 1985. Mr McCoy was the recipient of the Robert Jones Medal and British Orthopaedic Association prize in 1990. He was appointed Consultant Orthopaedic Surgeon, RVH Belfast in 1989 becoming Trauma Director at the Royal in 1992 and joined the South East Orthopaedic Service in 1999. He is currently Clinical Lead for Orthopaedics, UHW and Kilcreene Regional Orthopaedic Hospital.
Mr McCoy's specialist interests include Orthopaedic Trauma, Lower Limb Arthroplasty, Soft tissue knee surgery and Spine surgery.

Mr Anthony Ward
Bristol, UK

Anthony Ward is a Consultant in Trauma and Orthopaedic Surgery working in a Major Trauma Centre at Southmead Hospital, North Bristol NHS Trust, Bristol, UK and Honorary Senior Clinical Lecturer at University of Bristol. He qualified from Nottingham University Medical School and undertook higher surgical training in Bristol and Plymouth, South West Region, UK. He underwent fellowship training in pelvic trauma and hip reconstruction surgery with Dana Mears in Pittsburgh, USA before being appointed to his Consultant post in Bristol in 1993. He established a regional pelvic trauma service with training, academic and research interests in pelvic trauma surgery and outcomes.

He is an active faculty member at national and international pelvic trauma and hip reconstruction meetings and training courses. He is a Regional Specialty Professional Advisor in Trauma and Orthopaedic surgery for the British Orthopaedic Association and Royal College of Surgeons of England. He was elected President of the South West Orthopaedic Club in 2014. When not diving into the pelvis; he enjoys being a PADI assistant instructor and welcomes the opportunity to go scuba diving while in Australia.

Here at Periop Partners, we work with surgical practices to deliver seamless, curated patient experiences by leveraging computing intelligence.

Customised Patient and Referrer Education Platform
Patient and Referrer Communication Software
Secure Data Sharing

We believe that the future of healthcare practice management is leveraging computing intelligence. Leveraging computing intelligence can deliver insights into your patients, referrers, and staff; save you time through automation and process management; connect your practice with the right network of referrers and service providers; and distinguish your service in the field as delivering high quality and efficient care for your patients.

Periop Partners. Your trusted business partner for patient and referrer engagement technology.

Could you be doing more? Find out what other practices have done with our software at Booth 24.

For RACS members, receive 20% off our Leveraging Computing Intelligence package for Surgical Practices, worth $12,500.

Dr Daniel Von Allmen
Cincinnati, USA

Daniel von Allmen attended Williams College for undergraduate school followed by medical school at The University of Vermont College of Medicine. He completed his general surgery training in Cincinnati which included 2 years in the laboratory of Dr Josef Fischer studying sepsis and nutrition and a 2 year ECMO fellowship under the direction of Dr Fred Ryckman. Upon completion of his general surgery training, he stayed in Cincinnati for Paediatric Surgery training with Dr Moritz Zeigler.

Dr von Allmen moved to the Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia in 1997 where he developed a strong clinical focus on oncology and inflammatory bowel disease. He remains an active participant in both the Children’s Oncology group and the Crohn’s & Colitis Foundation of America. In 2003 he returned to UNC to assume the role of Division Director and Surgeon-in-Chief at the newly constructed North Carolina Children’s Hospital. In 2009 he returned to Cincinnati to become the Director of General and Thoracic Surgery and Program Director for the Surgical Residency at the Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Medical Center and in 2015 he became the Surgeon-in-Chief.

He has an active interest in surgical innovation with a funded international project on robotics and image guided surgery and he participates actively in the national paediatric surgery associations.

The College and the Section are extremely grateful to the following sponsor for their support of this educational program.

Professor Christopher Winfree
New York, USA

Dr Winfree completed medical school at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, and then joined the Department of Neurological Surgery at Columbia University as a resident. Following residency, he completed a fellowship in peripheral nerve surgery, and then a second fellowship in functional and stereotactic neurosurgery. Currently, Dr Winfree is an Assistant Professor of Neurological Surgery at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City where he specializes in peripheral nerve surgery, peripheral nerve cancer surgery, nerve and muscle biopsies, pain neurosurgery, and spasticity.

His research interests include the use of peripheral nerve transfers to treat spinal cord injury, and the use of neuro-stimulation to treat chronic pain disorders. He is a member of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons, Congress of Neurological Surgeons, American College of Surgeons, New York State Neurosurgical Society, North American Neuromodulation Society, Neurosurgical Society of America, New York Presbyterian Society of the Alumni, Society of Neurological Surgeons Boot Camp Committee, and the CNS Self-Assessment in Neurological Surgery Editorial Board. He recently completed his term as President of the AANS/CNS Joint Section on pain.

Professor Simon Kay
Leeds, UK

Professor Simon Kay is a consultant plastic surgeon on the General Medical Council specialist register and specialises in all aspects of plastic surgery particularly cosmetic surgery, breast surgery, hand surgery and major nerve surgery.

Professor Kay has a large childrens’ plastic surgery practice and over the last 25 years, has developed a very extensive cosmetic surgery practice. Professor Kay is the editor of an award winning text book and is the current editor of the Oxford Textbook of Plastic Surgery. He has run educational courses in cosmetic surgery and also teaches cosmetic surgery. Professor Kay publishes regularly in scientific peer review journals and contributes to a wide range of textbooks as an invited author.

Dr Andrea Pusic
New York, USA

Dr Andrea Pusic specialises in reconstruction after cancer surgery at Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital in New York. She has a strong interest in breast reconstruction and performs a wide range of techniques, including DIEP flaps and ‘direct to implant’ surgery.

Her main research interest lies in assessing health-related quality of life among oncology patients. With grant support from the American Society of Plastic Surgeons, she has developed a questionnaire, the BREAST-Q, which measures satisfaction and quality-of-life outcomes among breast reconstruction patients. The BREAST-Q has been widely adopted by other cancer centres as well as the National Health Service in Great Britain, which is using it in a national audit of mastectomy and reconstruction outcomes.
Dr Pusic is also involved in research to measure patient expectations in breast reconstruction. This NIH-funded research is ultimately aimed at improving patient education and promoting shared medical decision making. At Memorial Sloan Kettering new breast reconstruction patients routinely complete the “Expectations” questionnaire, which helps the team better understand and anticipate patients’ needs.

In 2007, Dr Pusic was awarded the Clinical Research Recognition Award by the American Society of Plastic Surgery. Currently, she is Chair of the Clinical Trial Committee of the American Society of Plastic Surgeons and leads several multicentre studies evaluating outcomes in plastic surgery.

The College and the Section are extremely grateful to the following sponsor for their support of this educational program.

Dr Gary Timmerman
Sioux Falls, USA

Dr Timmerman was raised in Watertown, South Dakota, a community of 20,000. Watertown had four general surgeons who ‘planted the seed’ for his career in surgery while in high school. He trained at the University of South Dakota School of Medicine and the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis. Dr Timmerman completed a general surgery residency at Rush Presbyterian St. Luke’s Medical Center in Chicago and then returned to practice general surgery in Watertown. Dr Timmerman practiced in Watertown for nearly 10 years where he was honoured to care for his former teachers, neighbours and friends.

In 1998, he moved to Sioux Falls, South Dakota to direct the local trauma service and broaden the local foregut surgery program in that community. Dr Timmerman’s practice is now primarily foregut (oesophageal, stomach, and pancreas) surgery and endocrine surgery. He currently serves as Chair of the Department of Surgery for the Sanford School of Medicine, USD, overseeing the medical student’s surgical clerkships and sub-internships, as well as directing and assisting the new rural general surgery residency in South Dakota.

Socially, he is an avid, but rarely successful, bow-hunter and recently, a retired aging rock drummer for a local ‘70s band of doctors. With his wife, he enjoys travel, visiting their children and supporting local charities and community endeavours.

Professor Gerald Hickson
Tennessee, USA

Gerald Hickson is Senior Vice-President of quality, safety and risk prevention, Assistant Vice Chancellor for health affairs and Joseph C. Ross Chair of Medical Education and Administration at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.

In 2013, Gerald was appointed senior vice president of quality, safety and risk prevention for Vanderbilt Health Systems. This newly created position consolidates oversight responsibilities from quality improvement, patient safety and risk prevention to bring greater strategic alignment to these intrinsically related missions. Through his expertise in identifying and addressing unreasonable variation in human performance, promoting human accountability and advancing major organization-wide improvement, Hickson focuses on leadership in the development, implementation and measurement of Vanderbilt’s approach to quality, patient safety and adverse-event reduction.

Dr Alessandro Gronchi
Milan, Italy

Alessandro Gronchi MD received his MD degree from Milan University (high honors) in 1992, and then completed his residency training in General Surgery at the San Raffaele General Hospital – Milan. During his residency he served for 2 years at the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, working full time at the Lacor University Hospital in Gulu - Uganda. He then completed his training with a fellowship in Surgical Oncology at the National Cancer Institute – Milan – Italy in 1998. He joined the faculty in the Department of Surgery at National Cancer Institute, as attending surgeon in the Sarcoma Service, in 1999. He visited the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York in 2002. He has been chair of the Sarcoma Service at the National Cancer Institute – Milan – Italy since 2001.

Dr Gronchi has a life-time professional dedication to patient care and research in soft tissue sarcomas (STS) and gastrointestinal stromal tumours (GIST). His clinical practice focuses exclusively on these disease entities. He runs the Sarcoma data base of the National Cancer Institute, which gathers clinical and biological information on over 7800 patients affected by STS and GIST, treated over the past 3 decades in Milan. He is involved in all institutional research activities on sarcoma, which include neoadjuvant therapies in extremity and retroperitoneal sarcomas, new targets for specific STS subtypes, different telomere maintenance mechanisms in STS subtypes, molecular characterization of desmoids tumours and mechanisms of resistance to therapy in GIST. He is the Principal Investigator of several Italian and International trials on Sarcoma and GIST. He serves as chairman of the soft tissue sarcoma committee of the Italian Sarcoma Group (ISG), chair of the EORTC Soft Tissue and Bone Sarcoma Group, president of the Connective Tissue Oncology Society (CTOS) 2016 and is a member of the Sarcoma Task Force of the European Society for Medical Oncology (ESMO), the Society of Surgical Oncology (SSO), the Italian Society of Surgical Oncology and several other medical and scientific societies. Dr Gronchi has authored more than 220 scientific publications, serves as Associate Editor of the Sarcoma Journal and was Sarcoma Section Editor of the Annals of Surgical Oncology 2009-2014.
Mr Dirk Strauss
London, UK

Mr Dirk Strauss completed his training as a General Surgeon in South Africa. He then completed a clinical fellowship in upper GI Surgery at St Thomas’ Hospital, London followed by Surgical Oncology at the Royal Marsden Hospital, London.

He commenced as a Consultant Surgical Oncologist and General Surgeon in the Sarcoma Unit and Skin Unit at The Royal Marsden Hospital in 2009. The Sarcoma Unit at The Royal Marsden is one of the largest soft-tissue sarcoma units in Europe. It is recognised worldwide for its strength in diagnosing and treating soft-tissue sarcomas. The Sarcoma Unit see approximately 1,000 new patients annually with confirmed or suspected soft-tissue sarcoma.

Mr Strauss has a special interest in surgery for limb, retroperitoneal and intra-abdominal soft-tissue sarcomas. He is the National UK Coordinator for the EORTC STRASS study and has a principal investigator role, as well as sub-investigator roles within the Sarcoma unit. He is member of the British Association of Surgical Oncology, Connective Tissue Oncology Society and Soft Tissue and Bone Sarcoma Group, EORTC. He contributed to NICE Quality Standard, and as part of the Trans-Atlantic RPS Working Group to the international RPS and updated ESMO guidelines on retroperitoneal sarcoma surgery.

MASTERCLASS (MC7): SOFT TISSUE TUMOURS – A SERIES OF CHALLENGING CASES (Ticketed Event)

Mezzanine Level Meeting Room M3

Moderator: Chris Allan (Brisbane)

This masterclass will involve presenting a series of locally advanced or recurrent retroperitoneal and trunkal soft tissue sarcomas and fibromatosis. The cases will be presented to our international expert panel members Dr Alessandro Gronchi (Milan, Italy) and Mr Dirk Strauss (London, UK) for commentary along with audience discussion and participation at every step in the cases. Discussions will focus on assessment, preoperative decision making, extent of surgical resection, the place for adjuvant treatments and follow-up schedules.

Dr Charles Miller
Cleveland, USA

Charles Miller, MD, is the Director of Liver Transplantation in the Transplantation Center at Cleveland Clinic. He is also a Staff Physician in the Department of General Surgery. Liver transplantation and living donation are his areas of special interest. He has had personal involvement in more than 175 living donor liver transplants during his career.

Board-certified in general surgery, Dr Miller has authored more than 200 manuscripts. He holds many professional memberships both nationally and internationally, including the American College of Surgeons and the International Liver Transplantation Society. Currently, he serves as the President for the American Society of Transplant Surgeons and the American Association for the Study of Liver Diseases.

He is a graduate of The Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York, N.Y. He completed his surgical residency, a clinical and research fellowship in transplantation as well as a vascular surgery fellowship at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York. Dr Miller’s surgical career continued at Mount Sinai Hospital as the Director of Liver Transplantation and ultimately the Director of the Recanati / Miller Transplantation Institute. He joined the Cleveland Clinic in 2004 as the Program Director for Liver Transplantation.

Professor Nathaniel Soper
Chicago, USA

Dr Nathaniel J Soper, MD is Chief of Surgery on the medical staff at Northwestern Memorial Hospital and director of Minimally Invasive Surgery and the Loyal and Edith Davis Professor and Chairman of Surgery at Northwestern University’s Feinberg School of Medicine. Dr Soper's research interests have revolved around the applications of minimally invasive surgery for gastrointestinal disease, laparoscopic ultrasound, alternative treatments for gallstones and motility of the gastrointestinal tract. More recently he has been involved in the early clinical experience with Natural Orifice Transluminal Endoscopic Surgery (NOTES) and Per Oral Endoscopic Myotomy (POEM) surgery.

Dr Soper has lectured extensively throughout the United States, Central and South America, Europe, the Middle East and Asia. He is a member of numerous professional societies, including Alpha Omega Alpha, American College of Surgeons, American Surgical Association, Society for Surgery of the Alimentary Tract, Society of University Surgeons, and Central Surgical Association. He is actively involved in the Society of American Gastrointestinal and Endoscopic Surgeons (SAGES) and the International Society of Digestive Surgery (ISDS), in which groups he is Past-President. Dr Soper serves on the editorial boards of Annals of Surgery, Surgical Endoscopy, Journal of the American College of Surgeons, Journal of Gastrointestinal Surgery, and World Journal of Surgery.

The College and the Section are extremely grateful to the following sponsors for their support of this educational program.

Dr Tara Mastracci
London, UK

Dr Mastracci is a vascular surgeon with an interest in complex aortic repair. She completed general and vascular surgery training at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, and moved on to a superfellowship in complex aortic repair at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio. Dr Mastracci’s first consultant position was at the Cleveland Clinic, where she also held a position as assistant professor at Case Western Reserve University for seven years. Dr Mastracci moved to the Royal Free London in October 2014 to lead the aortic team.

Dr Mastracci is a clinical epidemiologist by training and focuses most of her research in clinical outcomes related to disease of the aorta. She has a specific interest in endovascular aneurysm repair, stent graft design and development, the genetics of aortic disease, and the advancement of new intraoperative imaging techniques. Recently Dr Mastracci has partnered with the radiation physics department at the Royal Free Hospital to improve radiation safety in the field of vascular surgery.

Urban Rooftop Honeybee and Garden Tour with Urban Apiarist

Departs: 9:00am - Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre (meet at 8:50am, opposite the ASC registration desk)

Concludes: 12noon - Participants can make their own way back from Hotel Jen at the conclusion of the tour or join the guide to walk back to the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre.

Duration: 3 hours

Cost: $70.00 per person incl. GST

Inclusions: Urban apiarist guide, bee protection suit and small gift jar of honey.

Bring: Bottled water, camera, sunglasses and hat.

Clothing: Casual dress, enclosed flat shoes, trousers and hat.

Note: skirts, shorts and high heels are not permitted.

Enjoy an up close and personal view of the Hotel Jen beehives which help pollinate the dense inner city flora. High above parklands we delve inside the beehives with magnifying glasses, up close and personal with the young developing bees and their queen.

Learn about the impact on local diversity with Brisbane’s urban beekeeper Jack Stone.

Taste a seasonal selection of premium honeys from Brisbane suburbs and learn why raw honey and other hive by-products are so good for you.

This tour starts at the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre with a lecture and Q&A session. Participants will then join the guide to walk to Hotel Jen (approximately 25 - 30 minutes walk) to view the beehives.

Please note morning tea is not provided on this tour.

Clothing: Comfortable clothing and footwear.

This walking tour takes you to Brisbane City Hall, the Clock Tower and the Museum of Brisbane. Your local guide is a Brisbane Greeter (Greeters love living in Brisbane and are enthusiastic about introducing you to their city) and they will guide you and share their intimate knowledge of Brisbane. Built between 1920 and 1930, the heritage-listed Brisbane City Hall is at the heart of Brisbane and has been the backdrop to numerous cultural, social and civic events. It is one of the top 10 heritage listed buildings in Australia.

Having recently undergone a $215 million restoration, City Hall is the perfect place to explore Brisbane’s history including the Main Auditorium, Father Henry Willis Organ and the iconic clock tower. The Museum of Brisbane, another feature of City Hall, showcases artworks from the City of Brisbane collection as well as contemporary exhibitions by some of the city’s leading artists. The museum is part of the living history of the city, examining how Brisbane and its people continue to change over time. It explores seemingly ordinary people and places of Brisbane to uncover unexpected and fascinating stories.

Finish with a refreshments break in Shingle Inn. Originally opened in 1936 on Edward Street, Shingle Inn was well known for its superior quality cakes, unique environment and outstanding service. Now within City Hall, one of Brisbane’s most recognised buildings, Shingle Inn is a beautiful venue which continues its tradition as a location which reaches across the generational divide.

Please note morning tea is not provided on this tour. You will have the opportunity to purchase refreshments at the conclusion of the tour.
